

Would your company like to do something to help all women? Young and old?

Then please consider making a donation to the Early Warning Scan for breast cancer

Why?

Women live their whole lives with the chance that they might get breast cancer. And it's very likely, because as many as 1 in 7 women will face it at some point. The consequences of breast cancer are always terrible, but for the more than 3000 women per year who are under 50, it's particularly traumatic. They have to diagnose themselves. Until screening starts at the age of 50, women are completely dependent on their own "looking and feeling".

How stressful is that?

The psychological burden associated with self-checking is great. Women have to look for something they don't want to find! Throughout their lives. And if they do find something themselves, it could be late or even too late. Women shouldn't have to go through this any longer!

Good news!

The need for self-assessment will be taken over by the Early Warning Scan for breast cancer.

By scanning twice a year, the EWS quickly detects any irregularities in the female breast that might lead to cancer. In this way, all women from the age of 16 onwards are monitored for life.

At the end of 2019, this promising idea won an innovation prize.

After that, things moved quickly. The development team will have the EWS prototype ready by the summer of 2021. The expertise is in place. Now comes the money.

The YvYa Foundation

The YvYa Foundation was established to support the development of Early Warning Scan with money, knowledge and advice. The Foundation stands for rapid development and accessibility for all women.

YvYa wants to bridge the gaps between research grants so that development does not come to a standstill. 3200 deaths every year as a result of breast cancer can no longer be accepted. If it can be changed, it must be changed.

What is YvYa asking for in concrete terms?

Could your company embrace this project?

Could you make a commitment to donation campaigns? Or a donation gift at Christmas?

Donations benefit all women.

What do we still need?

| | | | |
|---------|-------------------------|-------------------------|--|
| Phase 1 | estimation € 50.000 | Until summer 2021 | Production of prototype scanning-unit Early Warning Scan. |
| Phase 2 | estimation € 200.000 | Until summer 2022 | Software development, pre-clinical tests with a limited number of women. |
| Phase 3 | estimation € 500.000 | Until summer 2023 | Construction of a small series of scanning units. Clinical tests in several hospitals. Therefore scientific substantiation of the EWS. |
| Phase 4 | estimation € 400.000 | From summer 2023 | CE certification, preparation of the series production of scan units and setting up an organizational structure to enable national coverage |
| Phase 5 | to be determined | From januari 2024 | Serial production of scan units and expanding the organization to make the EWS available to all women. |

Can women count on you?

That would be wonderful!

It means so much ... to all women ...

On behalf of the women of YvYa,
